REGIS COLLEGE

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

The tradition of Regis College is reflected by the students, faculty, and administration. The atmosphere at Regis is enriched with history that keeps the many traditions significant. The Christmas season, Mother-Daughter and Father-Daughter Banquets, Junior Ring Ceremony, and the Daisy Chain at Commencement are just a few of the traditions that enhance the Regis Community.

Throughout the past two years, Regis has seen many new changes. Our new president, Sister Sheila Megley, WRGS, and the Eleanor Welch Casey Theater and Arts Center are some of the changes that will become Regis history. Despite the modifications that are being made, Regis will never lose her spirit or tradition.

The Class of 1993 will carry the Regis tradition in our hearts with fond memories of the history that we have made. Let the Regis tradition continue!

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

Women of the Future

Here we are at the end of the road — everyone of us different and unique, yet each of us choosing the same college. We brought to Regis College something it had never seen or felt before. We brought with us our talents, our thoughts, our feelings, our friendships, and our love for one another. Though our paths will part and our lives will change, all that we are will continue to grow. Our talents and our self-confidence will take us where we want to go. Congratulations Class of 1993 — we made it!

"I learned to see a lot in Nebraska," she says. "The plains are wide open and there is nothing but sky and land. You learn to notice the small things." I was struck by the quote by S. Sheila Megley the first time I read it in the "Weston Town Crier." It struck me, because the first time I walked on campus as a senior, I noticed so many little things that were changed that I had never before noticed. The longer you are here, you grow accustomed to things. But suddenly things had changed. For example, we wondered why the side of Maria Hall looked like the Children's Center — oranges, reds and pinks — but did we think of painting it? We wanted our dorms more like home, but did we take time to change them? And, whoever thought of moving dumpster that we walked by night after night on our way to dinner? Sister Sheila Megley. So, when I read her quote, I thought, maybe I should spend some time in Nebraska myself. Because I never paid much attention to little things. Excitement about these changes and many others have filled the air. There is a new feeling on campus, a new attitude . . . it is something you can feel and it is very special!

. . . There is so much to do, to feel, so much to learn. As I began to get upset that I had only one year left, I said "Self, it is not over yet; you've got the whole year to experience Regis College. And that is exactly what we are going to do! We felt so much frustration last year. I do not see that frustration this year . . . just the little things make us feel good inside . . . happy and excited to be a student at Regis College in 1993.

. . . Thank you, Sister Sheila for teaching us to notice the little things, and thank you for helping us to establish a new feeling, a special feeling that will continue to inspire us . . . You haven't seen the best of us yet! Thank you!

— Anathea Boccalini

Cap & Gown Ceremony

Cap and Gown Ceremony is a tradition as old as Regis College, where the college's seniors wear their academic attire for the very first time. It is a day in which seniors are able to reflect on the years that have past and hope for the days ahead.

On the sunny Sunday in October, Anathea Boccalini, senior class president, spoke with pride about our class and our achievements. She dared us to try things we had never tried yet at Regis; to take a walk through the campus and look at it in a different way. She challenged us to take an art class, join a club or a sport, or attend an activity we had never been to before.

At the end of her speech, Anathea honored our new college president, Sister Sheila Megley with a tulip plant from our class. She promised Sister Sheila that the Class of 1993 would plant a tulip garden in her honor, for she is a woman the seniors had already grown to love.

Hoop-Rolling Ceremony 1992

The Hoop-Rolling Ceremony, like the Cap and Gown Ceremony, is another tradition that the seniors look forward to.

For weeks, seniors try to decide how they will decorate their hoops. At the starting line, they challenge one another to the finish, but it is not as easy as it looks. Who would have known how hard it was to run up a hill, pushing a hoop, dressed in heels and a gown? Just ask the seniors — they know how hard it was, but they also know how much it was.

Never had the college seen so many hoop rollers in one place, at one time.

Christmas Celebration

One of the most special times at Regis is the Christmas Dinner. This is a time when the Christmas spirit is the purest. Although the celebration is enjoyed by all of the Regis community, for the seniors, this is a special night; it is their last Christmas at Regis.

Many emotions are felt this evening. Joy, love, and sadness fill the air. Many women exxperience the joy of giving with their Secret Santa gifts, gifts to Regis, and the gift to our new president, Sister Sheila. The love the seniors have for Regis, as well as each other, was evident through their Christmas song and wall.

The Regis tradition at Christmas is something that the senior class will happily remember the rest of their lives.

Senior Week 1993

Senior Week — The most anticipated time of the year. It is filled with both joy and sadness. It is packed with exciting events that all seniors can attend. For many, it is a final opportunity to celebrate with the friends they have made in the last four years. For others, it is a realization that this is their final goodbye.

The Senior Week Committee worked throughout the year to schedule the most memorable events for the Class of 1993. Their time and dedication to our class enabled us to celebrate the completion of our four years at Regis with a joy that cannot be defined.

Senior Week began with the traditional Black Tie Formal. The Class of 1993 danced into the night, savoring the precious moment. On Sunday, the faculty sponsored a cookout on the athletic field. On Monday, a brunch with a slide show was provided to the seniors. Laughter and tears filled the hearts of the soon to be graduates. The adventurous scavenger hunt, canoeing, Medieval Manner dinner, and cruise to Nova Scotia will not be forgotten.

This week provided the senior class with many more dear memories of their friendships they have made at Regis. The Regis tradition of love and laughter will remain in the hearts of the 1993 graduates.

Baccalaureate

May 21st, 1993 finally arrives and the seniors are filled with happiness, excitement and anxiety. After a busy senior week, the class of 1993 slowly walks to the top of the hill to meet their families and friends at the tower. Dressed in Cap and Gown attire, they are proudly led by their class Officers to the green and white tent on the hill.

As the evening progresses, awards and honors are given out by the academic dean, Sister Lee Hogan and by the Dean of Students, Ms. Lynn Coleman. Gina Rossetti, class valedictorian, addresses the class on their role as women, and the importance of "speaking up". Then, Anathea Boccalini, class president, reflects on the four years spent at Regis College, concentrating on the friendships and memories that were made to last a lifetime.

After listening to the speeches, the seniors celebrate mass with their families and friends. But before the evening can end, Sister Sheila Megley, Regis College president, compliments the Class of 1993. The seniors are impressed with her thoughts and loudly applaud her first speech at her first Regis College Baccalaureate Ceremony. Though many more ceremonies will surely come and go, none will mean as much to them as that ceremony did on Friday, May 21, 1993.

Commencement

When the Baccalaureate Ceremony is over and the parties come to an end, there is only one more night in the dormitory. Filled with mixed emotions, seniors stay up to talk to one another in their dorms, or talk to their families in their homes. Knowing that their college career will soon be coming to an end, they are confused, as well as excited.

Commencement morning, May 22nd , 1993 is a beautiful, sunny morning. For the last time, seniors join together in their Cap and Gown attire, carrying their hoods, hoping for a bright tomorrow. In the mini-theatre the conversation is rampant, there is a strong feeling of unity.

Parents, families, friends, relatives, professors and staff patiently and proudly await the arrival of their daughter, mother, sister, aunt, cousin, wife, girlfriend or friend to reach the tent. This is a morning to be proud of one another. As the Commencement ceremony begins, the Class of 1993 is not only presented with their diplomas and their hoods, but they are also honored to have Ms. Doris Kearns Goodwin address their class. Ms. Goodwin used examples and stories in order to leave them with a message: be happy, stay happy, so that at the end of your lives, you can look back and be happy with what you have accomplished.

At the close of the traditional Commencement Ceremony, Sister Sheila again addressed the class, congratulating them on four spectacular years. Bright smiles were visible, but no dry eyes could be found, as the class of 1993 paraded down the hill into an unknown future, filled with unlimited potential.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

Professors And More . . .

The faculty at Regis is an integral part of the community. In addition to teaching, the professors mentor, motivate, and challenge their students. Each professor strives to provide an active and stimulating atmosphere in the classroom. They use their expertise in their particular field to educate and prepare Regis women for the future. The faculty at Regis exceeds the academic standards. The professors make an extra effort to get to know their students as individuals while establishing a working relationship with them. The students at Regis honor the faculty and hope that "The Tradition Continues" with them.

van Gogh Visits Regis

As the students visit the Walters Art Gallery, they admire the artwork of fellow Regis women. The talent and creativity of Regis women is exhibited twice a year in the gallery. As students stroll down the aisles they stare in awe at the beauty and emotion poured into the women's work.

The Art Department is chaired by Sister Marie de Sales Dineen. Sister assists the students in selecting art courses, facilitating the art shows, and is a wonderful role model for those students majoring in art.

In addition the Walters Art Gallery, the Eleanor Welch Casey Fine Arts Building will be a new element for art students as well as the Regis community to take advantage of. The new Fine Arts Center will provide art students with more courses to choose from and more opportunities to exhibit their work. The Eleanor Welch Casey Fine Arts Building is a symbol of the Regis tradition of art appreciation continues.

"Good Morning Regis College!"

The Communications Department at Regis is one of the most specific and developed compared to other colleges in Boston. Communications is one of the most popular at Regis. Dr. Murray, the head of the department assists students in selecting courses in a particular area of communications, implements new courses, and helps run WGRS — the college radio station.

WGRS began last year and continues to grow, quite rapidly. Al Vasile facilitates the station, and uses his talent and professional experience well. He has become a role model for those students interested in entering the radio/broadcast field.

In addition to general communication courses and broadcast classes, writing is important to communication majors. Dr. Hallisey teaches Journalism and Modern Article Writing, which are two very concentrated writing courses. Dr. Hallisey helps prepare students for any type of writing that they may need to do in their career.

The Tradition of Writing

The English Department provides an extremely stimulating and challenging major. One of the most popular English courses is Forms of Imaginitive Literature, taught by Dr. Young.

The English Department is responsible for the Writing Assistant Program, located in College Hall, on the third floor. Here, English majors can sit and relax, or discuss Chaucer or Shakespeare.

In addition, the English Department takes a tremendous amount of pride in each senior. Every senior has a portfolio filled with her written works, carefully critiqued by her professors.

The English Department at Regis is growing rapidly, and is helping students carry on the tradition of the written word.

Students that are majoring in History become a part of the History Department. They take courses such as: Introduction to World Civilation, Women in Early European Society, and U.S. History. The department is chaired by Sister Catherine Meade who encourages her students to explore history with new and different ways of thinking.

The History Department provides the students with knowledge and awareness of events that occurred not only in the past, but also occurred in our lives, with an understanding of why they took place.

Managing the Melody

The Music Department at Regis is responsible for teaching music classes, organizing the concerts, and facilitating the Glee Club and Vesper Singers.

For beginners, the Music Department offers classes such as Introduction to Music and Exploration in Music. These courses are taught by Sister Margaret McCarthy.

For those women who are looking to expand their talent and knowledge, there is the Glee Club and the Vesper Singers. These extra-curricular activities are run by Sheila Prichard. The Glee club has performed extensively at Regis and many other colleges such as, WPI, Villanova, and Berkely. In addition, the Glee Club has traveled to Spain and Italy to show off their precious talent. The Vesper Singers perform an annual Christmas concert, that is a Regis tradition.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

An Active Community

The student activities offered at Regis are quite diverse. These activities include Campus Follies, Mother - Daughter Dinner, Father - Daughter Dinner, and a very traditional Christmas Banquet. The women at Regis are fortunate to have so much offered on campus. In addition to a wide variety of on campus activities, Boston offers exciting activities as well. Some Regis events take place in Boston. For example, the Orientation Committee plans an annual Red Sox game for the newly arrived students. In addition, the seniors take complete advantage of Fanueil Hall for senior week activities.

Taking part in the activities offered makes up a large part of the student life at Regis. The activities are all integrated open to members of all classes, which allows the students to join as one group, and form an active community. There is definitely an activity for everyone — so don't miss out!

"Be courageous and be brave, and in your heart you'll always stay ... Forever Young." Incoming students were greeted by this theme at Orientation 1992. Members of the Orientation Committee were not hard to find — just look for their turquoise shirts!!

Affectionately called "The Smurfs", Regis volunteers really showed their welcoming spirit. From helping the freshwomen move in, to running around the Athletic Field playing "Giants, Wizards, and Dwarfs" — there was not a minute to spare. Trust falls helped mold new friendships, while getting every group member over the 12 foot wall proved that unity can be the key to success.

The events were never-ending and the fun was just beginning. Who will forget the outrageous Scavenger Hunt in Boston's Faneuil Hall? The night began with a sense of eagerness and ended with excitement and lots of laughter. Boston will never be the same! As if this was not enough, Nick's Comedy Stop brought out the comedian in everyone.

The theme "Forever Young" captivated the Regis spirit. "So whatever road you choose, I'm right behind you, win or lose ... Forever Young."

"Forever Young"

May the good Lord be with you, down every road you're on
And may sunshine and happiness surround you when you're far from home
And may you grow to be proud, dignified and true
And do unto others as you'd have done to you.
Be courageous and be brave, and in my heart you'll always stay,
Forever young.....
And when you finally fly away I'll be hoping that I served you well
For all the wisdom of a lifetime, no one can ever tell
But whatever road you choose, I'm right behind you, win or lose.
Forever young, forever young, forever young.....

Anticipation, excitement and triumph. These three words accurately describe just a few of the feelings that were buzzing around in the heads of the Class of 1994 as they lined up to enter the Chapel for the annual Ring Ceremony. Each year the Juniors celebrate their status as upper-classwomen when they receive their class rings during Parent's Weekend.

As the Class of 1994, along with their family and friends, participated in the Mass, there was an aura of womanhood among the future Regis graduates. The ceremony marks a very special turning point that is not only reflected in everyone's faces, but also in their hearts. The Regis ring is a lasting symbol of the unity found in the four special years spent at Regis.

In honor of Sister Shelia's first year as President, the Junior class presented her with a ring as well. She was deeply touched and a special bond was created. It was a wonderful feeling to see Sister Shelia appreciate her ring as much as the Juniors did.

Mother-Daughter 1992

The Mother-Daughter Banquet is one of the highlights of each Regis year. The dinner celebrates the special relationship between a mother and daughter. This year's banquet was especially nice because it was the first time Sr. Shelia was a part of our celebration. Sr. Shelia welcomed everyone with a few touching remarks about her own relationship with her mother. Sarah Edwards of Channel 7 News was our guest speaker, and she too added her own thoughts on such a special bond. Once again, the Regis tradition was a success.

Christmas Banquet 1992

This Christmas Dinner is one of the most special of all the Regis events. The dinner is a time for the entire Regis community to come together, including faculty, staff, administration, and students. Along with the whole school, the dinner also strengthens the individual bonds between the class members with the traditional wall decorating contest and class songs.

This year's banquet was extra special in that it was Sister Sheila's first at Regis. Our new President was greeted with gifts from each class presented by the class officers. As usual, the tradition of Christmas was a special time at Regis continued.

Each year, the Father-Daughter banquet is one of the most popular events at Regis. Who can resist a night of fine dining and dancing with one's father? This year's dinner was held at the Charles Hotel in Cambridge and all who attended were looking their best.

The evening was filled with fun and excitement, but also with a bit of nostalgia, for the class of 1993 looked back on their previous Father-Daughter banquets, while attending their last. For the class of 1996, the entire evening was a new experience for them. For students and fathers of each class, special memories were made that will last forever, as will the Regis tradition of the Father-Daughter banquet.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

Get Involved!

Regis offers a wide variety of clubs and organizations for students. These clubs and organizations provide an escape from the pressures of academic studies and an opportunity for students to socialize with each other. Students have the choice of joining various groups such as, The Student Government Association, academic clubs, or social clubs, such as Tower Tavern or Tower Society. These clubs and organizations mark a tradition at Regis.

"Music To Our Ears"

The chamber singers is an organization composed of a highly selected group of women who perform advanced choral literature under the direction of Sheila Prichard. The group specializes in polyphonic, a capella music of the Renaissance period.

In order to become a chamber singer, a student must audition and demonstrate great vocal ability. Upon acceptance, the student automatically qualifies for the Glee Club. Chamber singers practice twice a week, and perform at various social events. In October, they performed for the President Associates. At Christmas, they performed at Arlington Catholic Women's Guild. In addition, the chamber singers performed the five part 16th century Balletto by Thomas Morley at the annual Spring Concert.

Performance, hard work, and dedication marks a successful tradition of the performing arts that is sure to continue here at Regis.

Our Leaders In Action

As the end of four wonderful years draws to a close, the officers of the Class of 1993 take a look back at their past as they contemplate their future. These officers are the ambassadors of our class. They share their hopes, fears, and dreams. Individually each has found her niche in the Regis community, in a variety of activities and majors. They have helped our class come a long way since freshman year. They remember the bright colors of the Orientation Committee, their big sisters, their first T.T., their first Christmas Banquet, and their first roommate.

Next came sophomore year. By this time, they had become accustomed to their surroundings. This was their first chance to become one of those bright, welcoming colors. It was time to say good bye to their big sisters.

Then it was junior year and a wide range of opportunities came their way. They could cross-register and check out the guys at Babson, Bentley, and B.C. It was also their turn to become a big sister. What a year — yes indeed!

Now they are seniors and these are just a portion of the memories that they will carry with them to their next adventure. But, while there is still time, they will add the special effect to the events of our final year. Let the Regis tradition continue in their hearts.

Planet Patrol at Regis

The Earth Club is a small organization created to promote environmental awareness on campus. It was started in 1989 by a group of concerned students and Dr. Morimoto, the group's advisor.

The Earth Club has worked to make students, faculty and staff conscious of the deterioration of our planet. The club was directly involved in a styrofoam ban on campus. This year it has worked diligently with Joe Shaughnessy to expand Regis' recycling program.

Since May of 1990, Regis has recycled white paper and redeemable bottles and cans. Today, Regis also recycles glass, newsprint, and corrugated cardboard. In the fall, Joe plans to incorporate plastic into the program.

These are just a few ways that the Earth Club has worked to help our environment. The Earth Club has continued the tradition of thinking globally, and acting locally here at Regis.

Keeping Regis Posted

The Herald is a student read newspaper which seeks to cover student concerns and events on campus. Anyone who is interested in the newspaper may join. Everyone's contribution and hard work is greatly appreciated.

In the past, it has been the Herald's duty to inform the Regis community on campus activities and global events. The Herald successfully informs the Regis community by producing an issue every six weeks.

The Herald allows students to develop skills in leadership, marketing, production/layout, service, and writing. It also offers students an opportunity to cover special events and to socialize. The Herald's tradition of informing the Regis community is a long standing tradition that's sure to strongly continue.

Angela Hall RHPB had a very active year. The RHPB staff worked hard on various activities such as, a Christmas social with a D.J. and snacks, Midnight Movies, field trips to the International Celebration in Boston, and many service projects.

The highlight of the year was the Christmas season. The dorm was decorated in bright, festive, and traditional colors. The front lounge looked like a winter-wonderland with a beautifully lit tree, and spray snow on the windows. Each floor had a study lounge decorating contest. Dr. Smailes and Dr. Mulholland were the judges and awarded the second floor with a pizza party. In addition, Santa Claus came on the last night of classes and distributed the secret santa gifts to Angela Hall residents.

To conclude a successful year, the RHPB staff planned a barbecue for the dorm. Over 100 people attended, and it was a blast!

A Voice For The Students

The Student Government Association is a student-run organization that was created to provide self government for the student body at large. This organization is facilitated by Regis faculty and administration in general. The Dean of Students Office sponsors SGA.

SGA is composed of at least five elected representatives from each class, a commuter representative, and four student officers.

The primary concern of SGA is for the student body in general. Specifically, it acts as the liaison between the student body and the administration. In addition, SGA is the allocator of funds for all student activities.

SGA member constitute prime examples of student leadership on, and off campus. Members learn how to take initiative and motivate others. The Student Government Association continues a fine tradition of leadership for women, and by women at Regis. This is a tradition that will be an asset to all members of the Regis community in the future.

530 AM — No Kidding!

April 1, 1992, amidst much fanfare and celebration, a baby was born at Regis College. A great deal of time, energy, and commitment went into planning its conception, and the countless hours of hard labor which preceded its birth represented the combined efforts of many. The new arrival on campus was greeted enthusiastically by both students and faculty. Its name was WRGS, 530 AM. WRGS is Regis' own radio station. It sprung on to the air waves with Billy Joel's "Only The Good Die Young", played by Kerry Cooper.

WRGS provides the opportunity for communication majors to gain experience in broadcasting. The station is facilitated by Al Vasile, a professor in the communications dept. WRGS is owned and operated by Regis women. They design programs, play music, and facilitate all other activities.

WRGS marks the beginning of a new Regis tradition that is sure to continue.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

The Best Of Both Worlds

Commuter students experience the best of both worlds. On and off campus, they manage to budget their time effectively. Juggling work, classes, and a social life, commuter students know what it takes to make their college experience a success. They enjoy campus life during the day, but they are fortunate enough to be able to return to all of the luxuries of home at night. On the other hand, commuting to school has obstacles to overcome. Whether it be a flat tire, a car that will not start, traffic, or even a speeding ticket, commuting to school has its downfalls. Through snow, sleet, and rain, you can be assured that commuter students make every effort to be a part of the Regis community.

Continuning Educational Students Shine

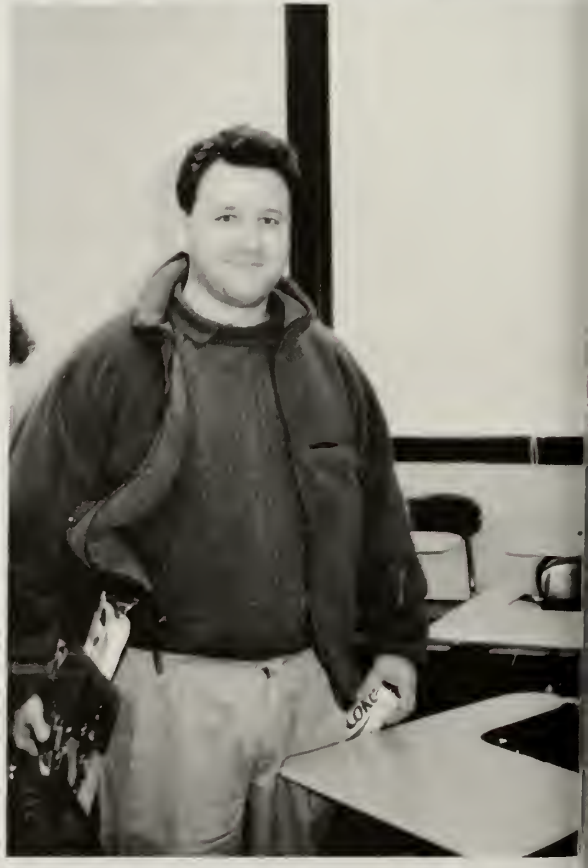
Continuing Ed students find that the experience at Regis is one that they look forward to. This enjoyable community provides an educational atmosphere for students to achieve their individual goals.

Whether looking for the fulfillment of intellectual stimulation or definite career objectives, a CED student can choose many fields of interest.

Through the day and evening programs that are available, students receive a flexible course load and find themselves in friendly supportive classrooms.

This year this growing department is proud to say that out of the 83 students participating in the courses available, 9 will be graduating.

Continuning Educational Students



NURSING

The Undergraduate nursing program at Regis is a completion program for registered nurses who wish to earn their baccalaureate degree. It consists of two tracks, a more traditional weekday component, and a weekend track design for Army Reserve nurses and civilian nurses whose personal and professional lives would not allow them to return to school otherwise. An innovative experience for these students is a Nurses Assessment Clinic at a housing facility for the elderly in Boston.

The most exciting event of this year was the beginning of the Masters Program in Nursing Administration in September. Other happenings include the Nursing Honor Society Dinner in October when seventeen new members were inducted; the Distinguished Scholar Lecture in April, last year keynoting Dr., Bernadine Lacey, EdD RN, a noted nurse advocate for the homeless in Washington, D.C.; a very active scholarship fundraising group which this year will sponsor a fashion show in April and the raffle of a basketball autographed by Larry Bird.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

The Winning Tradition

The Regis College athletic program provides an abundance of activities for students who are looking to exercise on their own, or participate in organized sports. The student-athletes dedicate much of their college career to their chosen sport between traveling out of state to games and, practicing every day. In addition to achieving team success, friendships are developed that will last a lifetime. Each player dedicates herself to her team and Regis in an attempt to continue the tradition of excellence in Regis teams. May this winning "tradition continue."

SPORTS

Cross Country

The Cross Country team entered this season with a new coach and new goals to accomplish. The Beacons excelled both individually and as a team. The team was led by tri-captains Kara Fitzgerald, Sue Hoag, and Donna Smalarz all who showed great enthusiasm throughout the season. With only one senior and six freshman and sophomores the team had a lot of work to do when they arrived on campus and that hard work did pay off.

One of the season highlights was when the team placed fourth at the Gordon College Invitational. As for individual highlights, Sue Hoag came in first place at the Wellesley College Invitational, second at the Regis Invitational with Smalarz finishing fourth and Fitzgerald finishing 6th. The team ended their season on a positive note finishing first out of four teams at the Lasell Invitational.

Senior Kara Fitzgerald will be missed next year, but with the veterans returning the team is looking forward to another successful season.

Soccer

The 1992 soccer team demonstrated dedication and determination from the very start of the season by arriving at school a week early to put their summer to the rest and their abilities to the test. For the first time in Regis history, students participating in fall sports were able to partake in the vigorous, pre-season double sessions. The team, led by senior tri-captains Therese Devaney, Kristen Paolucci, and Carolyn O'Connor, were enthusiastic and prepared to begin the tough journey through their season.

After getting by two top teams in Division 3, the Beacons put up a relentlessly difficult fight only to lose in the final seconds of overtime by a score of 4-3. Proceeding the tough loss to Pine Manor, Regis traveled to Elms College and found the secret of success by shutting them out 1-0. Heroic efforts were made by senior goalie Jen Jordan as well as senior Maryanne Gaudet who anchored the defense. Janet Dill provided the winning goal for the Beacons as they clinched their first victory.

Continuing to play hard but coming up short, Regis traveled to Wellesley College where the team came together and was down by only one at halftime.

By midseason the soccer team showed their strength by spoiling the Nichols College Homecoming with a tie. Soon after, the Beacons showed devotion to both Regis and their team by clinching two more victories over Anna Maria and Worcester State.

Although the soccer team will be losing six valuable seniors, the underclassmen showed great spirit and skill throughout the season, and will be ready to fight back next season.

Tennis 1992

The tennis team under the leadership of Senior captain, Liz Desjardins represented Regis College with spirit and enthusiasm. The Beacons defeated Wentworth with an impressive 6-3 victory. Suffolk University also fell to Regis as the Beacons pulled out a 5-4 win. Regis placed a 5th rank at the Commonwealth Coast Conference Tennis Tournament. Freshwoman, Melissa Cocci reached the semi-finals in #3 singles. Although their season was not as successful as they had planned, the tennis team is hopeful and optimistic for 1993.

The volleyball team ended the season with an 11-11 record. Hard work paid off for the Beacons; the team celebrated with a more successful season than they had the previous year. Regis was fortunate to have six freshwomen join the team, all who added to the team's already strong base.

The Beacon's enjoyed victories over Wentworth, Mass Maritime, Worcester State, and other area schools under the leadership of senior Shannon Myron and junior, Jen Purdy, the team's captains.

Due to the fact that the team will only be losing one senior, the Beacons are confident that 1993 will be a successful year for Regis volleyball.

Junior co-captain, Jen Purdy expresses her optimism about Regis volleyball, "the best thing about this year's team was that whether we were winning, losing, or practicing, we were always having fun!"

The Regis College Swimming and Diving Team began the 92-93 season with great expectations. After coming off an excellent season the year before the Beacons wanted nothing more than to improve. With senior Tri-Captain Susie Vitiello out for the season the team had a lot of work cut out for them.

The 92-93 team was the most successful team in Regis History. With a record of more than 150 wins, the team received all-academic honors, placed tenth in the New England Championships out of more than 20 schools, had six athletes qualify for the NCAA Division III Nationals, and had three students; Steph Ford, Dee Callahan, and Marie Jardine named all New England.

The Beacons started out strong by capturing the Swimming and Diving Invitational. They continued their winning ways until February 6th when they met up with Wellesley College and lost a close meet. Their first loss of the season failed to get them down, however, they defeated Bridgewater State and U-Lowell at a dual meet where the Beacons blew the other swimmers out of the water. They went on to lose their second and last meet of the season to Tufts before heading to the New England Championships.

Many Regis swimmers had some of their best times of the season which helped the Beacons to place tenth out of more than 20 schools. Next year looks to be just as successful with all but three swimmers and divers returning. Senior Tri-captains Susie Vitiello, Amy Shea and Katie sullivan will all be missed, but the Beacons will continue to shine.

Glad to be together are Lauren Radovich and Nicole Heroux.

Basketball

Led by team M.V.P. Julie Rando, the Regis Basketball team had another successful season. The Beacons posted a 16and 9 record, were the regularseason Commonwealth Coast Conference Champions, and qualified for the M.A.I.A.W. State tournament for the third year in a row.

Regis was off to a shaky start, going into Christmas break with a record of 2-4. The team came back in January, won seven in a row, and made history during the seventh game. Junior co-captain Julie Rando became the first player in the History of Regis College to surpass the 1,000-point mark. Rando needed only 6 points to reach this goal at the start of the game against Wentworth, on January 30th. She broke the record when she broke away from her defender and went the length of the floor to score on a lay-up. (photo right)

With this under her belt, Rando helped to lead the team to finish the regular season in first place and obtain the #1 seed heading into the Commonwealth Coast Conference Tournament. In the first round, Regis faced and defeated Wentworth. Going into the Semi-Finals Regis would be playing Salve Regina who they had previously defeated twice during the year. It was a tough game for the Beacons with center Jen Romano hurt, but Hilary Smith stepped up and played an excellent game and helped to propel Regis over Salve.

For the second year in a row the Beacons would be playing for the conference title, and for the second year in a row it would be against New England College. In the 91-92 season Regis clinched the title, but that did not happen this year. The game came down to the wire, and the Beacons lost a tough game, however, they had a great season overall and had many underclassmen making huge contributions. Senior co-captain Carolyn O'Connor, Senior Jen Jordan, and seniorMegan McCarthy will all be missed next year but will be back to see the Beacons recapture the Commonwealth Coast Conference Championship!

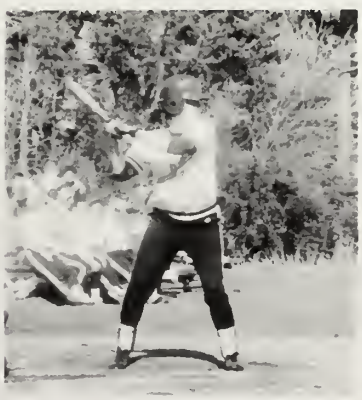
The Regis College Softball team had a slow start this season. The Beacons were practicing indoors longer than they had expected, due to the fact that the fields were covered with snow until the beginning of April. By the time they played their first game they already had 2 doubleheaders to look forward to and a number of games had either been postponed or cancelled due to the weather.

Once the games began however, the team had a lot to accomplish. With only one senior and seven freshman the Beacons had their work cut out for them. After losing their first few games the team pulled together and came out on top after beating Wentworth and Babson in two nailbiter games.

Junior co-captains Laura Galopim and Beth Grinley were mainstays for the Beacons all season, while some of the younger players developed their skills to contribute what they could to benefit the team. Janet Dill, the only senior enjoyed the season with her coaches and team, and was awarded the Most Improved Award at the annual Sports Banquet.

With the experienced underclassmen returning the Beacons shall be a force to reckon with in the future.



▲"Hits and Runs!" The Beacons prepare to take control of the game.

Spring Track

Now and forever you are a part of me and the memory cuts like a knife, didn't we find the ecstasy, didn't we share the daylight
when you walked into my life.
Now and Forever I will remember all the promises still unbroken and think about all the words between us that never needed to be spoken

We had a moment, just one moment that will last beyond a dream, beyond a lifetime we are the lucky ones, some people never get to do all we got to do, Now and Forever I will always think of you.

didn't we come together didn't we live together didn't we cry together didn't we play together didn't we love together and together we lit up the world!

I miss the tears, I miss the laughter
I miss the day we met and all that followed after sometimes I wish that I could always be with you,
the way we used to do

Now and Forever I will always think of you
Now and Forever I will always be with you.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

Taking Care Of Business

How would we get through four years of Regis without our valuable staff and administration? Who would help the students make their tuition payments if there was no controller? How would we schedule our classes without the registrar? And what would we eat if there was no Marriott food service? who rarely receive the credit that they deserve. People seem to forget just how much work is involved in making our campus enjoyable. From day to day we take for granted the people who make the difficult things at Regis seem to easy. Without our staff and administration, Regis College would not be the success it is today.

Shaping the Regis Community

Admissions is an office we all have traveled through. Like 'Footprints In The Sand,' they carried us through the application process and greeted us with open arms while "sitting on top of the world" at orientation.

This office has gone through many changes since we first entered their doors, a few new faces welcome the prospective students, and a modernized automated system has allowed the admissions office to reach out to more young women across the world.

With the addition of four new recruiters: Christine Burke '92, Moira Murphy, Jill Jackson, Melissa Bercury '92 and Assistant Director Lisa Talbot we have a winning team to assure alumnae that Regis will always be providing superior single-sex education.

Paving The Way

Learning to identify and communicate your interests, skills, and values is a critical first step in finding the right career. The Career Development Office can help you with this self-discovery process through seminars such as, "Values-based Decision Making", "Identifying Your Marketable Skills", and "Matching Your Interests to Careers".

This office is a vital part of your senior year when you are testing the waters of the job market. However, the Office of Career Development offers programs designed for all four classes. Services are open to all students, and individual career counseling is always available.

In Step With The Students

The Office of the Dean of Students is responsible for the planning, implementation, and evaluation of programs and philosophies that further student development. The Dean of Students and her staff work toward accurately assessing and meeting the needs of all students. Residence life, student activities, health services, counseling, and campus police are associated with the Dean of Students. The student government association, class officers, student publication editors, chartered organizations, and resident hall programming boards report to the Dean of Students on their financial status and activities. The Dean of Students Office is committed to honoring the college mission by assisting students in their whole growth and development, by facilitating opportunities for leadership and service by promoting ethical communities which value, respect and celebrate differences.

New Developments

The Financial Aid Office at Regis College has a tremendous amount of responsibility. The women in this office take great pride in their involvement with the students by helping them finance their education, assigning work study jobs, or awarding scholarships.

Many new developments have taken place in this office. For example, Lisa Proctor and Janet Casey have both been promoted. Lisa, who had previously worked in the Financial Aid office as well as the Controller's Office, is now the Director of Financial Aid. Janet, the new Financial Aid Counselor, has successfully used her eleven years experience in working at the office.

Also joining the crew, is Regis graduate, Michelle Kasbarian. Michelle's responsibility is to maintain the office in an organized manner. This is extremely challenging due to the phones ringing, meetings to schedule, students that need information, ect!!

The Financial Aid Office is an integral part of the Regis Community. We thank you for your support and assistance. We could not have gotten through Regis without you!

Out With The Old, In With The New

The past school year has been a busy time for Regis College Library. From card catalogues to new personnel, the library has changed from top to bottom.

"Our goal is now to move more toward automation and computerization", states Elizabeth Keenan, Library Director. In this past year all work at the circulation desk have been put on line to a new computer network with Babson and Pine Manor College. The card catalogues no longer exist. They have been taken down to make way for more computers.

Sadly, this academic year, the Regis College community said good bye to Reference Librarian, William Gallop who retired after thirteen years of service. Many students ran to Mr. Gallop for his help with projects and papers, he will be missed. Taking charge of the reigns is Joanne O'Keefe. She began her new position at the library in late February. Regis welcomes Joann and looks forward to new changes in the 1993-1994 year.

Remember When . . .

Do you remember Freshman year when you went to your mailbox — three times a day, hoping to hear from someone, or anyone?

Now, most seniors hold off getting their mail because they are anticipating bills, academic warnings, or news from graduate schools. Mr. McCabe can't help it if we do not like our mail, but he is sure to have it in our boxes in timely fashion.

When the mail comes in, he sorts it with Jean Battaglia according to receiver; faculty, staff, and students. The mailroom also prices packages over the counter, prices it according to zones, and most importantly, keeps everyone happy. There is a saying that "if someone does not have a smile — give them yours." Thanks for your smile Mr. McCabe!

ADVERTISEMENTS

To the Graduates of the Class of 1993: Congratulations to each and every one of you. From the entire Boccalini Family, and especially to Anathea from Mom — Judy, Dad — Vincent, Adam, Aleta, Angelo, Anna, & Anthony.

Congratulations Brittanie! As usual you have done it with style and grace. We are proud of you. We love you and wish you the best! Mom, Dad, & Christi.

The Best of Luck to the Class of 1993!

Let her show her works by a good life in the humility that comes from wisdom. James 3:13

Congratulations Kate.
Go for it!
With Love, Mom
Have a nice day, Dad

Lisa,
You are our pride and joy.

Mom, John, Tom, & Jim.

Donna,
You have worked hard — A job well done!
We are proud of you.

Love, Mom and Dad

"Let us take our proper station;
We, the rising generation,
Let us stamp the age as ours!"

BEST OF LUCK TO THE CLASS OF '93
